In the default state of the screen the begin date is set to today and the End Date is set to one week after today. Note: It is NOT possible to select a date in the past.

When the date picker is changed it will change the begin date accordingly. The end date will update itself accord to the changed to begin date to one week after the begin date.

Pressing the Clear button, will clear the fields to their original state (begin is today and end date is one week from today).
